Utah State Board of Education Releases School Report Card

SALT LAKE CITY – The Utah State Board of Education (USBE) has released the School Report Card, a tool designed to highlight each school's strengths and note areas with room for improvement. State, district, charter, and individual school report cards for the 2024-2025 school year are now available through the School Report Card.

The tool allows parents to examine school performance indicators, such as achievement and growth. “The School Report Card reflects our commitment to continuous improvement and informed decision-making,” said State Superintendent of Public Instruction Molly Hart. “It provides families, educators, and communities with meaningful data they can use to understand progress and support student success, and it helps parents make informed choices about their child’s education.”

Those interested in statewide data are also encouraged to visit USBE’s Data Gateway, where they can find information on individual assessments, data for grade levels, graduation rates, and other resources.
